DECIBIVE ACTION.

There is one thing possible in the present state of affairs on the New York Central which will bring the relief so greatly desired by the public and by the strikers. If the State Board of Arbitration institutes a proper investigation of the reasons which led to the discharge of the employees of the road the knot will be cut which is now tlemg up so many interests.

The State Board is not only authorized to conduct such an investigation and empel them to answer the questions the Board may direct to them, but the words of the statute are mandatory in their character.

The law says that in case of a lockout or strike occurring or threatening, it shall be the duty of the Board, and it is hereby directed to proceed as soon as practicable to the locality of such strike or lockout, and to put itself in communication with the parties to the contro-

Here the State Board is not only told state of things, but "it is hereby directed " to do so, and to do so promptly, "as soon as practicable."

It would seem as if there was no discretion left to the State Board of Arbitration in this matter. It would also seem as if an investigation by it would settle the main point in dispute, viz. The cause of dismissal of the discharged employees, same. Now, the investigation?

which is waged so hotly by the crack ocean steamers a most interesting one, But the doubt arises whether it is altogether advisable for boats with hundreds of passengers on board to permit themselves a diversion which imperils the safety of those passengers or detracts notably from their comfort.

It is not good to wait for some awful ocean steamship disaster before any attention is given to this subject. A passenger on one of the big racers which tore across the Atlantic lately says that the saloon was so hot at times that it had to be deserted, and that despite protest on the part of several the terrific pressure was maintained.

Most transatlantic travellers are not pressed for time. Speed is not regarded as so greatly desirable in order to arrive more quickly. The glory of victory in race is almost the sole motive. Better "go slow" and be safe.

What can be more fair than that the moneys collected on an ocean steamer for disabled seamen by the efforts of a passenger, but almost entirely American should be at least evenly divided between English and American institutions for mariners?

The tartan plaids of historic fame, which date back to the time of King James III., in 1471, are, infinitely varied and modified, to the fore in full force. Fully half the dress goods department of a leading house is given up to them. They are in all colors and shades of color and are widely varied in size, the largest being fully three-quarters of a yard across. The smaller and mere brill-iant plaids will be much used for parts of
